

[Cutting Tool]

Abstract

The present invention provides for a cutting device and associated method to cut one or more downhole control lines such that the cut ends of the one or more control lines will not interfere with subsequent fishing operations.